

Abstract

An object of the present invention is to provide a catalyst with high yields of target products such as an α,β -unsaturated aldehyde and an α,β -unsaturated carboxylic acid. Problems are solved by a catalyst containing at least molybdenum and having a COD (chemical oxygen demand) of the catalyst of greater than 300 ppm and less than 11,000 ppm.

No figure.