【ABSTRACT】

The present invention relates to a nozzle device and a minimally invasive injection device. According to one embodiment of the present invention, the nozzle device for a minimally invasive injection device comprises: an outlet for forming a micro-jet of liquid; and a micro-sized injection portion connected to the outlet and inserted into the skin tissue at a predetermined depth.