

Abstract

A method and system for facility management, technicians, security, tenants, visitors and other occupants of the space to collaborate on matters relevant to management, operation, safety and repair of the facility. The system includes a mobile app installed on the mobile devices of a plurality of facility occupants which allows the facility occupants to communicate and collaborate with one-another concerning issues concerning the facility. A collaboration server coordinates communications between users, facility managers and facility management system software via translation scripts.

Fig. 6