

PHOTOGRAPHING PROGRAM

ABSTRACT

The present disclosure makes it easy to take 5 construction photos. A program according to one embodiment of the present disclosure causes a terminal to function as: an information acquiring part configured to acquire installation information including at least a place of installation of a 10 construction object, and construction information linked with the installation information; an activation part configured to activate a camera function of the terminal when the installation information is selected; and an adding part 15 configured to add the construction information linked with the selected installation information to an image of the construction object taken by the camera function.

20 FIG. 2