

ABSTRACT

An article management system (100) includes an automated storage and retrieval system (110) configured to store a plurality of containers (210),
5 each container (210) containing one or more articles (200), and take out, to a picking area (102) adjacent to a pick-up area (103), a container (211) containing at least one article (201) to be picked up at the pick-up area (103), among the plurality of containers (210), and a control apparatus (120) configured to control or support picking, at the picking area (102), the at least 10 one article (201) out of the container (211) taken out by the automated storage and retrieval system (110).