

Abstract

The present disclosure relates to a method and apparatus for photographing a live broadcast video, a device and a computer readable storage medium. In the process of playing a live broadcast video in a virtual live broadcast room, in response to triggering a photographing control, a photographing animation interface is displayed, an image frame of the live broadcast video is intercepted, and a sharing page corresponding to the image frame is generated, the sharing page comprising a screenshot of the image frame and at least one sharing manner entry.