ABSTRACT

A semiconductor structure, and a semiconductor device and a forming method therefor are provided. The semiconductor structure includes: a substrate; first trench groups located in the substrate, where the first trench group includes first trenches; and communication trench portions communicating with adjacent first trenches.

[FIG. 1A]