

G00002

-20-

162162

PROCESS FOR PRODUCING SOLID POLYURETHANE MOLDINGS

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Solid polyurethane moldings having high inherent rigidity, thin walls and a complex geometry are produced. These polyurethane moldings can be produced by reacting a selected polyisocyanate with a selected compound having groups that are capable of reacting with isocyanate groups by means of the casting process which is a simple and inexpensive processing technology.