

Method for the production of at least one final product by partial oxidation and/or ammoxidation of propylene

Abstract

5

A process for preparing at least one target product by partial oxidation and/or ammoxidation of propylene, in which the propylene source used is a propane dehydrogenation, the propane used therein being obtained by a rectificative prepurification of crude propane.