

ABSTRACT

The embodiments of the present disclosure provide a video recording display method and apparatus, and an electronic device, a medium and a program product. The method comprises: receiving a video recording viewing operation; and in response to the video recording viewing operation, displaying a personal recording page of the current user, and displaying, in the personal recording page and according to a recording filming subject, video information of a plurality of first video recordings posted by the current user.