

Abstract

5 The present invention relates to a T-cell receptor-based multi-specific polypeptide molecule. Also provided are a nucleic acid encoding the polypeptide molecule, a vector or a vector system comprising the nucleic acid, a host cell comprising the polypeptide molecule, a conjugate and a pharmaceutical composition comprising the polypeptide molecule, and a method for preventing or treating a disease in a subject by using the polypeptide molecule.