

Abstract

A packaging bag according to the present invention for packing a crushed polysilicon material is a packaging bag (1) for directly packaging a crushed polysilicon material and includes a multi-layer film in which an additive-free polyethylene-based resin layer (2) is disposed in an innermost layer, and, on the polyethylene-based resin layer, at least a gas barrier layer (3) and a reinforcing material layer (4) are stacked.

Figure 1 accompanies.