

【ABSTRACT】

According to an embodiment of the present disclosure, a camera module may be provided.

The camera module may comprise: a lens; at least one reflection and refraction member through which light is reflected at least twice; and an image sensor. The reflection and refraction member 5 may totally reflect at least a part of light incident to the reflection and refraction member.

Various other embodiments are also possible.

(FIG.4)