

Abstracts

Backpack with configurable auxiliary pockets and compartments.

Different people have different needs, requirements and uses for a backpack. In fact, the same person in different environment setting would also have different needs, requirements and uses for a backpack. Thus a backpack that offers full self-customization of the backpack's level of functional utility would be desirable. Provided is a backpack system that is fitted internally and/or externally with fabric compatible with with hook & loop fastening mechanism; and auxiliary pockets, compartments and accessories; wherein the main backpack and auxiliary pockets, compartments and accessories are fitted with matching hook & loop fabric that enables the easy connection and detachment of the auxiliary pockets, compartments and accessories onto the main backpack.

