ABSTRACT

An information processing method, performed by a User Equipment (UE), includes: acquiring a measurement relaxation parameter; in which the measurement relaxation parameter is used by the UE for relaxing a measurement of a radio signal transmitted by a network node; in which the network node includes at least one of: a Master Network (MN) node; or a Secondary Network (SN) node.

Figure 2