

162162

ABSTRACT

Formation of an interconnect circuit feature having a metal and an electropositive dopant. The interconnect feature may comprise an accumulation of the electropositive dopant at interface boundaries of the interconnect feature to reduce electromigration of the metal during operation. A method may comprise heating the interconnect feature to drive a portion of the electropositive dopant to the interfaces.

G00002