methods and systems for automated syringe quality evaluation

ABSTRACT

Automatic syringe quality control systems, apparatus and methods are provided. The automatic syringe quality control systems, apparatus and methods may determine a plunger depth within a syringe that has been pre-filled with a medication. The plunger depth may be based on digital image data.

Fig. 1A