

ABSTRACT

A method of fabricating an electrode structure may include forming a first gate electrode, performing a removal process on an electrode capping layer formed on the first gate electrode, forming a second gate electrode on the first gate electrode, and nitridating an upper portion of the second gate electrode.

FIG. 1