

A BINOCULAR HOLOGRAPHIC MACHINE VISION SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR IDENTIFYING LOCATIONS OF TARGET ELEMENTS

Abstract

The present disclosure describes binocular machine vision systems and methods for determining locations of target elements. This disclosure describes the transformation of multiple 2D sensor data into 3-dimensional position and employs the full range of through-focus imaging using a single image for each Receptor.

FIGURE 4