

ABSTRACT

A voice controlled easel is disclosed that enables a user to control, through voice commands, the movement of a canvas and dispensing of paint, so that by holding the paintbrush with the mouth, the user is able to express
5 themselves and create an art piece without requiring further assistance.

(Figure 1)

10