A METHOD FOR REDUCING DEPOSIT FORMATION IN LUBRICANT COMPOSITIONS

Abstract

The deposit forming tendency of Group II, III and IV lubricating base oils is reduced by the use of synergistic mixtures of diphenylamines or phenyl-α-naphthylamines with triarylphosphites.