---------- Translated from German ----------

Bundesdruckerei GmbH
10958 Berlin

3rd July, 1997
(22060 DE)

A B S T R A C T

The present invention relates to a security document and/or value document, in particular banknote, with security features and with a verification element for verifying the security feature.

The object of the present invention, to develop a generically compliant security document and/or value document, in which security against forgery is increased and the document can be inspected for genuinity more easily and without the use of external aids, is accomplished in that at least one verification element 2 and at least one security feature 3 to be verifiable by this verification element 2 are integrated into the document 1 in various positions, whereby the verification element 2 and the security element 3 are brought over each other only when verification is to take place.
- Fig. 1 -