

ABSTRACT

Provided in the embodiments of the present disclosure are an information presentation method and apparatus, and a device and a storage medium. The information presentation method comprises: in response to interaction information that is input into an interaction interface, presenting interaction reply information in the interaction interface, wherein the interaction reply information comprises reply text information and recommendation information of at least one recommended object corresponding to the reply text information, and the recommendation information of the at least one recommended object is determined on the basis of the interaction information and the reply text information. Since personalized reply text information can be displayed by means of interaction information and reply text information, and a plurality of types of recommendation information are provided to users, it is convenient to find, on the basis of the reply text information and the recommendation information, objects that meet the requirements of the users, thereby improving the user experience.