

Abstract

The presently disclosed subject matter includes a method and system directed for calculating azimuth of an airborne platform during flight based on IMU measurements, without using GNSS data, gyrocompassing or magnetometers
5 operating on the ground for determining the azimuth.

FIG. 2