

ABSTRACT

5 A method and system of managing digital credibility includes detecting event data and embellishment data from one or more internal sources and/or an external sources. Logical validation and blockchain transactional validation are separately performed. The method also involves adding the blocks validated by the blockchain transactional validation to one or more selected blockchains.

(Fig. 3)