

ABSTRACT

Provided is a composition and a method capable of inactivating a generated smell component. A composition for inactivating a smell component, which contains lactoperoxidase, glucose oxidase, and glucose, and is used in the presence of thiocyanic acid or a salt thereof; it is desirable that the smell component is food-derived and/or smoking-derived; and it is desirable that the food-derived smell component is a smell component derived from a food including a plant of the genus Allium.