

ABSTRACT

The invention provides a sintered Nd base magnet which 5 is free of a decline of remanence, has a high coercive force, especially at the edges thereof, is unsusceptible to demagnetization even at high temperature, and is suited for use in permanent magnet rotary machines.