

ABSTRACT

Provided is a method, device and computer storage medium for adding information of friends, and said method includes following steps: acquiring a user ID of a user and a friend ID of a friend of the user from a first network relationship list; according to said user ID and said friend ID, acquiring second correlation information corresponding to said user and said friend from several second network relationship lists; according to said second correlation information, determining first correlation information corresponding to the user and the friend in said first network relationship list, and adding said first correlation information into said first network relationship list. The method and device for adding information of friends provided in the present disclosure can accurately recognize the correlation information corresponding to the user and the friend on the basis of existing network relationship lists, and automatically add remark information for friends of the user.

(Figure 1)