(54) Title: PURCHASER-SPECIFIC CURRENCY CONVERSION

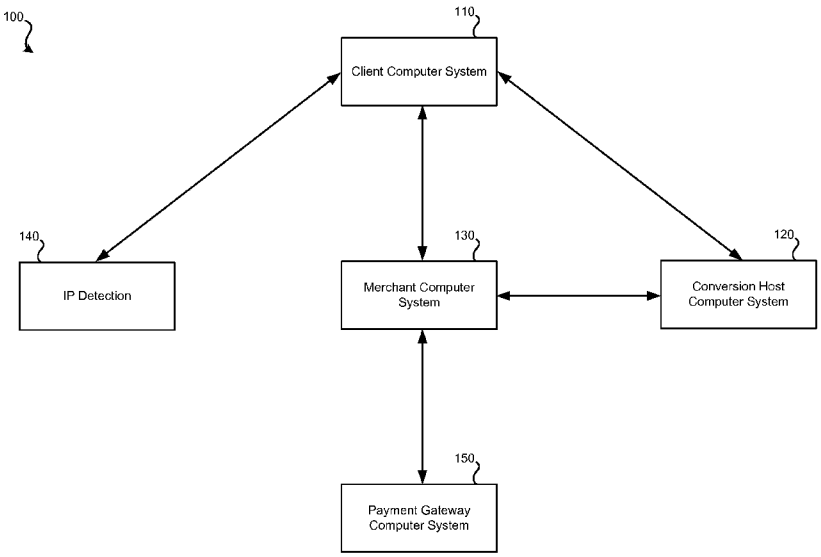

FIG. 1

(57) Abstract: Methods and systems for conducting online payments using a currency other than a base currency of a webpage are described. An indication of a purchaser's currency may be received. A plurality of prices on a webpage in a base currency may be identified. A request for a conversion rate between the base currency of the webpage and the purchaser's currency may be transmitted to a host computer system. The identified plurality of prices on the webpage listed in the base currency may be converted to a plurality of prices in the purchaser's currency using the conversion rate received from the host computer system. Purchase information and an identifier linked to the purchase information may be transmitted to a merchant computer system to conduct the online payment.
