

Figure 1: Security system architecture using Hawk. Each colored box is a separate site connected over the network. A variety of sensors are available at each site. Hawk makes all sensors visible in an integrated display at any site. Configuration, control and display of sensors as well as alarm setup, response and data recording/retrieval can be managed from any site.

Fig. 1

Fig. 2