

ABSTRACT

The plated steel material includes a steel material and a plated layer disposed on a surface of the steel material, and the plated layer has a predetermined chemical composition, and the plated layer 5 has a diffraction intensity obtained from a result of X-ray diffraction measurement, the diffraction intensity satisfying a predetermined relationship formula.

FIG. 1