

METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR PROVIDING INFORMATION

ABSTRACT

Provided is a method of providing information by a service server, the method 5 including acquiring input information from a user, confirming corresponding item information based on the input information, acquiring item delivery-related information from a distribution server based on the item information, confirming first information on or regarding an estimated delivery completion time of the item and second information on an order closing time corresponding to the first information based on the item delivery-10 related information; and providing a first page including the item information, the first information, and the second information.

Figure 2