

Prepolymer-based polyurethane formulations for the production of holographic films

A b s t r a c t

The present invention relates to a novel holographic photopolymer based on prepolymer-based polyurethane compositions, the preparation of said photopolymer and its use for a very wide range of optical applications.