

SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR MANAGING A MULTIPLE AUTHENTICATION SYSTEM

Abstract

An authentication system comprising a credential interface in communication with a supervisor layer, the supervisory layer in communication with one or more subsystem authentication system, the subsystem authentication system corresponding to a subsystem, wherein the supervisory layer retrieves information from the subsystem authentication system upon verification of a credential value from a user, and subsequently generates a unified credential permit which allows the user to access the subsystem.

Figure 2