

Abstract

Through the use of crushed foam glass derived from old glass or blast-furnace slag by way of aggregate for a casting compound which is bound with a binder, a building material was obtained that enables very wide-ranging applications.

10

(no Figures)

162162

G00002