Field of the Disclosure

[0002] The present disclosure relates to accessories for mobile electronic devices, particularly an accessory that includes a wallet that is removably attachable to a mobile electronic device or a case for the mobile electronic device.

Background

[0003] U.S. Pat. No. 8,560,031 discloses extendable socket accessories, formed of accordion-like socket structures and having buttons attached at their distal ends, for attaching to mobile electronic devices or cases for mobile electronic devices. When attached, the extendable socket accessories can be used to grip the mobile electronic device (and/or the case), as a stand for the mobile electronic device (and/or the case), and to manage cords associated with the electronic device.

[0004] However, there is a need in the art for an accessory assembly that integrates the functionality of a wallet and a grip accessory that facilitates one-handed use, but without the need to be permanently or semi-permanently attached to a mobile electronic device.

Summary

[0005] According to an aspect of the present invention, there is provided an accessory assembly for a mobile electronic device that includes a platform, having a first side and an opposing second side. The platform includes one or more magnetic elements configured to magnetically attach the platform directly or indirectly to a mobile electronic device or case along the first side. The accessory assembly also includes a wallet integrated with or attached to the second side of the platform, where the wallet is configured
