

AbstractDipeptide-containing granular material

The present invention relates to a process for producing a particulate composition containing methionine, methionylmethionine, potassium in the form of potassium salt and ammonium sulphate, and use thereof.

(No figure to be published)