

162162

ABSTRACT

G00002

AN ICE BREAKING NET

- 5 A system (10) adapted to facilitate the initiation of social interaction between operators of said system comprising a plurality of communication devices in mutual communication (20,25) with each other, each device located at a communication station (15), said stations arranged so as to permit visual contact (30) between operators of the devices at said stations, wherein on visual selection of a second operator located at a
- 10 second communication station a first operator initiates contact with said second operator by communication through said device.

Fig. 1