

ANTIVIRAL VACCINES WITH IMPROVED CELLULAR IMMUNOGENICITY

ABSTRACT

The invention provides compositions, methods, and kits for the treatment or prevention of viral infections. The polyvalent (e.g., 2-valent) vaccines described herein incorporate computationally-optimized viral polypeptides that can increase the diversity or breadth and depth of cellular immune response in vaccinated subjects.

[no suitable figure]