

WATER FLOW REGULATING DEVICEABSTRACT

5 A water flow regulating device for use at or near a water outlet. The device comprising a valve element disposed adjacent to an aperture; a resilient member coupled to the valve element; and wherein movement of the valve element under a water pressure and against a resilience of the resilient member reduces a gap between the aperture and the valve element to regulate a flow of water through the device.

10

FIG. 1a