

Abstract

FILTRATION CARTRIDGE

A filtration cartridge is provided comprising one or a stack of filtration units sealed to each other at their inner periphery and their outer periphery and to end caps thereby eliminating the need for a housing surrounding the stack. Fluid pathways are provided so that filtration of all incoming feed is assured prior to passing from the cartridge as filtrate.

Drawing: Figure 1