Prodrugs of thrombin inhibitors

Abstract

The present invention relates to prodrugs of the general formula I, whose meaning is indicated in the description. These prodrugs of pharmacologially active, heterocyclic amidines, from which in vivo compounds are formed which are competitive inhibitors of trypsin-like serine proteases, particularly thrombin, their preparation and their use as medicaments are described.