THIS SHEET HAS BEEN REPLACED

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A dialkyl carbonate (e.g., dimethyl carbonate) is prepared at a high yield and a high selectivity by decarbonylation of a dialkyl oxalate (e.g., dimethyl oxalate) in a gaseous phase in the presence of an alkali metal compound (e.g., potassium carbonate).

This Sheet Has Been Replaced