

METHOD FOR PRODUCING CATALYSTS AND THEIR USE FOR THE GAS
PHASE OXIDATION OF OLEFINS

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a method for producing catalysts on stable, high-purity molded bodies that are produced from pyrogenic metal oxides without the addition of binders, and to the use of said catalysts for the gas phase oxidation of olefins.

NO FIGURE