HIGH-RESOLUTION OVERLAY ALIGNMENT SYSTEMS FOR IMPRINT LITHOGRAPHY

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0191] A system of determining and correcting alignment during imprint lithography process is described. During an imprint lithographic process the template may be aligned with the substrate by the use of alignment marks disposed on both the template and substrate. The alignment may be determined and corrected for before the layer is processed.

Figure 24