

SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR REFURBISHING DIGITAL CAMERAS

ABSTRACT

A camera exchange system includes a plurality of digital cameras including a printer for printing camera images. A refurbishing station refurbishes used cameras by replenishing the supply of print media of each of the returned cameras and by resetting a counter. An authentication means of each camera authenticates whether or not the refurbishing station is authorised to effect refurbishing of the camera.

Fig 1