ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An E-mail directed to a mobile terminal is received, it is checked whether or not there is already designated information as to whether or not the e-mail is to be transferred, and the like as well as the capacity of the mail is measured. When the e-mail is to be transferred and the capacity thereof is within a predetermined range, the e-mail is transferred to the mobile terminal. Otherwise, the e-mail is not transferred or uploaded to another browsing server so that the e-mail can be browsed when it is accessed from the mobile terminal.
