

-9-

COMPUTERISED MAGNETIC RESONANCE ANALYSER

ABSTRACT

The magnetic resonance signal analyzer allows to generate a large variety of test signals including one or more frequencies. The test signals can be applied as electromagnetic fields or as currents to material under test. An electromagnetic or electrical response signal of the material under test be applied to the analyzer for processing to determine the response pattern of the material under test.

15

20

25

30

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

35 66816