

Abstract

The present invention relates to a robot system, a device, and a method for applying a process force (F_P) to an object within the scope of a task to be performed by a robot in relation to the object, the robot system allowing an amplification of the input force (F_{EIN}) input by a user with simultaneous feedback control, so as to thus enable a sensitive control of tasks.

(Fig.3A)