

ABSTRACT

An air control apparatus includes: a gas separation membrane (124) to which target air is supplied; and a controller (191) configured to execute a first action of reducing deterioration
5 in performance of the gas separation membrane (124) due to stop of the air control apparatus for a predetermined period.

FIG.13